Seventeen students in the Sun West School Division have received Saskatchewan General Proficiency Awards. These students are: Meahgan Sweet, Callie Lytle and Matthew McIntyre of Dinsmore Composite School; Barrett Taylor, Rachel LePoudre, Victoria Martin and Nicolette Hodgins of Davidson School; Stephanie Schmeiser and Lisa Dollansky of Biggar Central School 2000; Ben Cressman and Laura Andersen of Rosetown Central High School; Angela Japp of Eston Composite School; Erica Bennett of North West Central School in Plenty; Steven McKillop of Elrose Composite School; Megan Olivier of Kindersley Composite School; Travis Rudy of Eatonia School in Eaton; and Laurie Callsen of Westcliffe Composite School in Marengo.

To qualify for a General Proficiency Award, a student must be a grade twelve student, who goes on to a post-secondary institution following graduation. Each award is a $400.00 bursary provided by the Provincial Ministry of Education. The awards are granted to students who demonstrate academic excellence as indicated by their averages in seven grade twelve subjects. The students nominated across Sun West all had averages between 92% and 98%.
